

FAST AND EASY NETWORK UPGRADES, EXPANSIONS AND RECONFIGURATION

Easier way of construction and reconstruction of fiberoptic networks. Using technology of blowing of fiberoptic microcabels or bundle of fibers into microtubes of selected types of Siduct you are able to create exact fiberoptic network or line to make-to-measure including possible necessary reserves for the future when any of next network expansion is without digging work.

Type DI – installation into additional protection HDPE tube

This type is define for outside installation into installation additional protection HDPE tube or another similar protection. Due to its single jacket construction this type is not suitable for direct underground installation.

Type DB – direct underground installation

This type is suitable for direct underground installation without another additional protection. The construction is with double jacket.

Siduct for inner installation

This type is define specifically for inner installation due to its construction and performance LSZH.

Accessories

Standard accessories contain Straight connectors, End Caps and Locking Clips. Accessories is available in standard sizes 5, 7, 10, 12 and 14 mm.

Siduct / Multiduct

